

Log In > Transcript

Log In

Transcript

Log In

WCAU-PHI (NBC) - Philadelphia, PA
NBC 10 News at 6pm

+ Local Market Viewership: 150,809
Local Publicity Value: $7,532.36

1/9/2014 6:04:58 PM

WCAU 1/9/2014 6:05:03 PM: ...being, you noknow, sincere and apologizing for whatever happened. >> i think he's still very trustworthy. i like what he's done for the state. >> there's a traffic jam on his career path right now. >> reporter: daniel douglas is director of the william j. hughes crepter for public policy and Richard Stockton College of new jersey. he believes governor christie is now bleeding from a self-inflicted wound caused by his own administration. will this do in any presidential hopes for him? >> i think it's too early to tell. but it's certainly not something he was looking to have happen when he was going to be celebrating his second term pm i don't think he'll be going to iowa any time soon. or any other state because he needs to demonstrate that he has a hands-on approach to what's going on in his government. and to get control of it and to see what the facts truly are. >> reporter: but douglas is certain that today's lengthy news conference will provide the governor's critics with a boatload of sound bites that can be taken in or out of conte xt to make him look bad. live in atlantic city, i'm ted greenberg, nbc 10 news. >> stay with nbc 10 for the latest developments on the jersey jam. our coverage continues ri ght now on nbc10.com. logon for complete timeline of events as well as a closer look at the players. >>> now to the weather. and tonight we're keeping an eye on the big thaw and flooding concerns. as well now as a chance for a wintry mix for your morning commute. nbc 10 first alert meteorologist sheena parveen is here to track all of that for us. >> jim, we'll start with the flooding concerns. we've been telling you about the ice jams along the delaware river. the flooding threat does lie along the delaware. the biggest threat is the delaware river near trenton. this is the area we are going to be watching as we go through the next couple of days. we do have flooding concerns because of the ice jams, again, along the delaware river near trenton. the ice will be melting soon. this could be causing flash flooding for some areas. we've already gotten flood reports. in some cases some roads had to have been closed already. the ice coming onshore is another concern. you want to stay away from the banks and re ally avoid driving in flooded roadways. you never want to drive through flooded roadways or any floods you see. keep that in mind. we'll continue tracking it as we go over the next 24 hours especially. future weather picking up on some snow and ra in off to our west. as we go into tomorrow morning, it moves into the area. we are talking about for part of the area a wintry mix for your morning commute. coming up, we'll take a closer look at this. also a big warmup as we go into the w eekend. that's straight ahead. >> thanks, sheena. >>> frozen and thawing waters now causing headaches for city ...

Copyright ©1999 - 2014 TVEyes, Inc. All rights reserved.
Questions, comments, or suggestions? Send us feedback
Privacy Policy