

Media should be recorders, not makers, of history, says Carl Golden

Carl Golden For The Press | Posted: Wednesday, May 18, 2016 12:01 am

Having come of age in the newspaper business (11 years as a reporter) and 31 years dealing with the media on a daily basis as a congressional, legislative and gubernatorial press secretary, my first instinct confronted with

surrender
A more p
practical than disposition
At the
quadrant
In business
reality
expected a fair
pr
In cases
manages
of a rather dealing with participation
What
you
be

its hurled across the
which drew cheers f
ked questions based
to enucleate the interrogator panelists could pose th
s fulfilled their prof
candidate was willing to come to the atten
me or anyone else to its role and return
an excellent starting point working reporters
s, perhaps, unrealistic
for journalistic exc

