restaurant. The Egg Harbor Township OTW would be the seventh of a possible 15 off-track locations for horse betting approved by law in 2003. The other six include Vineland (2007), Woodbridge (2007), Toms River (2008), Bayonne (2012), Gloucester (2014), and Hillsborough (2015).

As reported by OnlinePokerReport.com, New Jersey's Division of Gaming Enforcement (DGE) has been exploring methods of expanding the online poker market. At present its efforts have focused on the formation of interstate agreements which would allow New Jersey's online poker operators to increase their pool of players by drawing from audiences in other states. To date, only Delaware and Nevada have legalized online poker although several states including New York and Pennsylvania are poised to enter the online gaming market. The Delaware and Nevada online poker markets have benefited from shared liquidity since March 2015 after the states signed the Multi State Internet Gaming Agreement (MSIGA) in February 2014. While many anticipated that New Jersey would eventually join the MSIGA, N. J. Division of Gaming Enforcement Director David Rebeck told Gaming Compliance that he
