What: The Richard Stockton College of New Jersey will formally dedicate reconfigured and improved Pomona Road Sports Complex.

When, Where: Wednesday, July 7, 12:00 noon, Athletic Fields adjacent to Stockton's Free To Be Child Care Center.

Additional Information: The College has installed a new synthetic turf field and seating for 250 spectators at the Pomona Road Athletic Complex. The field is designed to be used for multiple sports: soccer, men's lacrosse and women's field hockey. Also installed was a new scoreboard to be used for events on the field.

Infrastructure improvements include landscaping incorporating vegetation native to southern New Jersey including wild blueberries, rhododendrons and scrub pines; and parking for 225 cars. The new turf field is made with green-friendly materials including recycled automobile and truck tires.

The dedication is free and open to the public.
