Galloway Township, NJ- Stockton President Herman Saatkamp and representatives from the Bay-Atlantic Symphony today signed an agreement to make The Richard Stockton College – Dante Hall Theater in Atlantic City the premier home to the Symphony along the Atlantic Ocean.

Bay-Atlantic Symphony Executive Director Paul D. Herron, Music Director Jed Gaylin and Board President Robert Woodruff were in attendance at the signing ceremony.

Stockton President Herman Saatkamp said, "We are pleased to welcome the Bay-Atlantic Symphony to the Atlantic City Arts District and look forward to their music and upcoming concerts. The on The Bay Symphony, founded in 1983, became the Stockton Performing Arts Center's Orchestra in Residence in 1993. Their new Atlantic City presence will further extend the Symphony's reach and bring live music to .hE3re[nd biveC7-222s

"The Bay-Atlantic Symphony believes great music is for everyone and our mission is to share great music with all of southern New Jersey. Our new presence at Stockton's Dante Hall Theater in the heart of Atlantic City's burgeoning arts district provides the perfect location to cultivate our innovative programming and transformative performances to audiences within the Greater Atlantic City area," explained Bay-Atlantic Symphony Executive Director Paul D. Herron.

In 2011, the Bay-Atlantic Symphony performed five free concerts at Dante Hall Theater, which brought live concert music to more than 500 community members. Four concerts by the Bay-Atlantic Symphony are scheduled for October 4-7, 2012, at Dante Hall Theater for the Atlantic City Music Festival.
