Galloway Township, NJ- The Writing Program is partnering with Professor Lois Spitzer to offer an English Language Learner (ELL) only section of Rhetoric and Composition this spring.

This course will provide ELL instruction in the context of college-level writing assignments and offer students skills to grapple with college-level readings that may be particularly challenging due to language restraints and/or cultural differences. This course is appropriate for first-year students, transfers, and upper-level students who are experiencing difficulty reading/writing in English.

The course is GEN 1120-007 and will be offered TR 12:30-2:20pm. It carries four credits and is a W1.

If you are a non-native English speaking student who might benefit from this W1, please contact Professor Lois Spitzer by email at Lois.Spitzer@stockton.edu. Admittance to the course is by POI only.
