

Stockton to Host Conference for High School Students Interested in Becoming Teachers

Program on June 2 Features Keynote Speaker, Breakout Sessions

For Immediate Release

Wednesday, May 27, 2015

Contact: Maryjane Briant
News and Media Relations Director
Galloway Township, NJ 08205
Maryjane.Briant@Stockton.edu
(609) 652-4593

Galloway Township, NJ - About 175 students and their teachers from high schools across South Jersey will attend the New Jersey Future Education Association Conference at Stockton University on Tuesday, June 2, aimed at encouraging students to pursue careers as educators.

i n l c e a d i n i g g
t h e A r t a n d Testing.

The conference begins at 9:15 in the Campus Center Event Room. Larry Fieber, director of the Center for Future Educators (CFE), will be speaking.

Dr. Shawna Bú Shell will give the keynote speech, "How Education for the Future: We Need You!" from 9:40-10:20. Dr. Shell, who earned her Ph.D. from Columbia University Teachers College, has spent the last several years teaching graduate and undergraduate courses in technology integration, faculty development, and implementing technology-rich programs in schools in New Jersey.

-continued from page 2 -

school teachers, as well as offer an opportunity for students interested in a career in teaching to network with each other,” said Dr. Meg White, assistant professor of Education, who is co-