

STOCKTON

“Claiming Citizenship” Exhibit, Events Kick Off Stockton College’s Black History Month Activities

Events are Free and Open to the Public

For Immediate Release

Friday, January 20, 2012

Contact: Tim Kelly
Office of Public Relations
Galloway Township, NJ 08240
Tim.Kelly@stockton.edu
(609) 652-4950

Galloway Township, NJ - The Richard Stockton College of New Jersey isn’t waiting for February to kick off Black History Month. “Claiming Citizenship,” a photography exhibit and series of events are underway and will continue through the end of next month.

All events are free and open to the public.

The photography exhibit, Claiming Citizenship: African Americans and New Deal Photography is open now through February 28 on the first floor of the College Library (E-Wing of the main campus) in Galloway.

Claiming Citizenship events/ page 2

Freedom and Citizenship: Using Core Themes to Present the Past

January 26, 2:30 p.m. to 4:20 p.m., Sara and Sam Schoffer Holocaust Resource Center, 2nd floor of the Richard Stockton College of New Jersey Library.

Ivy Weingram, Assistant Curator of the National Museum of American Jewish History leads this workshop, and will explore how museum exhibits are built around themes. An activity will encourage reflection on civic engagement today.

Discussion Panel on Claiming Citizenship New Deal Photography Exhibit

February 9, 4:30 p.m. to 6 p.m. at the Townsend Residential Life Center.

In this panel discussion, exhibit curator and historian Rickie Solinger, Distinguished Professor of Art Wendel White, Professor Musher and Dean of the School of Arts and Humanities Robert Gregg will examine the photography exhibit historically, politically and aesthetically.

The exhibit and events are made possible by grants from the New Jersey Council for the Humanities, a state partner of the National Endowment for the Humanities and the New Jersey State Council on the Arts/Department of State, a partner Agency of the National Endowment for the Arts through the Local Arts Grant administered by the Atlantic County Office of Cultural and Heritage Affairs.

#