

CITI Training Requirements

Prior to any involvement in research conducted at Stockton University, all Stockton University affiliates must complete online Conflicts of Interest and Responsible Conduct of Research (RCR) courses via the Collaborative Institutional Training Initiative (CITI) Program. All Stockton University affiliates are required to take additional courses based on their role in research.

The following training requirements apply to all faculty researchers, administrative staff, research staff, student researchers, faculty advisors, or any other individual who conducts or oversees research activities at Stockton University.

Role	Required Training
Student Learner	- Basics of Research for Student Learners
Student Researcher	- Student Researchers
Student Engaged in Dissertation, Thesis, or Distinction Projects	- Must enroll in Biomedical, Clinical, SBE, or Animal Researcher based on their area of study
Biomedical Researcher	- Biomedical Research Investigators - Revised Common Rule - Health Information Privacy and Security (HIPS) for Biomedical Researchers
Clinical Researcher	-

Biosafety Chair	- Biosafety Officer/Chair
Biosafety Committee Members	- Biosafety Committee
Administrators	- Essentials of Research Administration
	-