
Many faculty and staff walked in the March of Dimes March for Babies Sunday, April 28 throughout the region.

Lauren Wilson, assistant director of Student Development, walked at Rowan University. "We walked in honor of my son Colin, who was born 10 weeks too soon in July 2011, weighing 3lbs 11oz, and spent 7 weeks in NICU (neonatal intensive care unit)," Wilson said.

Wilson's team "Colin 311" raised over $1600 to benefit the March of Dimes, she said. Wilson's team was Stockton-heavy, including Maria Spade, a program assistant in Institutional Research, Jen Radwanski, associate director of Student Development & New Student Programs, Steve Radwanski, associate director for Residential Life Operations, and Dave Amoriello, athletics coordinator.

Jessica Gullón, a professional services specialist, led her team

The Office of Student Development and the Student Senate hosted their Annual Student Involvement Awards Ceremony on Thursday, April 18. Student votes were tallied, and the honors for Faculty of the Year were announced at the ceremony. A faculty member from each academic school was selected. The honorees are:

Beverly Vaughn, professor of music, School of Arts and Humanities; Dr. Audrey Latourette, distinguished professor of Business Law, School of Business; Dr. Darrell Cleveland, associate professor of Education, School of Education; Pamela Cross, coordinator of Skills Center Writing Lab, School of General Studies; Dr. Laurie Shanderson, assistant dean, School of Health Sciences; Dr. Yitzhak Sharon, professor of Physics and Weinstein Professor of Jewish Studies, School of Natural Sci-

Send Us Your News!

We want to know about things going on in the Stockton community. Do you have an unusual hobby? Did one of your co-workers win an award or perform outstanding public service? Births, weddings, graduations and the like are all good things to submit to the

Contact the editor at (609) 652-4593 or e-mail StocktonTimes@stockton.edu.