This initial conference gave SUVIP members a chance to get to know each other outside the normal setting while embracing national best practices and discussing what may and may not work at the University.

Valerie Hayes continued the conversations by setting up a Backboard page for all SUVIP attendees that has all downloads/workshops information from the NASPA Strategies Conference, as well as the proposal and other areas of interest related to the original proposal.

Please list any follow-up actions (publications, presentation venues, etc.)

Upon returning from the conference, participating SUVIP members met to discuss what was learned at the conference and what could be implemented at Stockton University. Faculty member Marcia Fiedler presented her findings to the Provost's office. Items that may be implemented in the upcoming fiscal year may include

- 1) Utilization of the national Higher Education Data Sharing Consortium (HEDS) Sexual Assault Campus Climate Survey (OIDE)
- 2) Restorative Justice model and implementation (OSRR)
- 3) Informational dinner and conversation about DV and sexual assault, among POC, utilizing models at historically white institutions. (WGSC and RES LIFE, with collaboration/TogetHER)
